

Allison Lupton

Allison Lupton is an acclaimed singer-songwriter in the Celtic folk tradition “...with a voice as clear as a country stream.” She performs self-penned and traditional songs with sensitivity and grace while adding an extra dimension to her stage presence through her virtuoso flute playing. In 1990 Allison began performing with the band Killiecrankie which was regularly heard on CBC Radio’s legendary Max Ferguson Show. Allison has since recorded 3 solo CDs and was featured on CBC’s Radio’s Vinyl Café and BBC Radio nan Gàidheal. She recently toured the UK performing at the Hebridean Celtic and the Warwick Folk Festivals. Allison was honoured with nominations by the Canadian Folk Music Awards for “Traditional Singer of the Year” and “Vocal Group of the Year” for her recording with The Lucky Sisters. Her songwriting talents have also been acknowledged in 2015, winning Folk Music Ontario’s Songs From Heart.

“Allison has a beautiful, clear singing voice, an eclectic capability and sensibility and the ability to tell a story with her flute. She is a wonderful musician and a lovely person.”
Stuart McLean, The Vinyl Cafe, CBC Radio

“Allison Lupton’s balance of strong composition and sensitive musicality makes her a fine contemporary songwriter and interpreter of the tradition and the works of her fellow songsmiths.”

Archie Fisher

As the Artistic Director of the historic Mariposa Folk Festival, it has been my job to hire hundreds of musicians over the years. One of those artists was Allison Lupton. In many ways, Allison stands out from the crowd. She brought top notch (and rightfully honoured) songwriting skills. She is an engaging performer with a lovely voice. She also is a seasoned performer who knows how to build genuine rapport with an audience. Allison is highly respected as a musician and gathers around her all-star performers who enhance her concerts and workshops with their incredible skills. The Allison Lupton Band is consistently made up of many of the finest musicians in Canada. That alone speaks to the respect that other musicians have for her many skills. Whether it is traditional style or modern singer-songwriter style, she delivers a polished and dynamic set. I would highly recommend Allison in every way!
